

Courtesy photos

Prize winners from Frederick Classical Charter School of the 2016 Middle School Essay Contest, sponsored by the Sgt. Lawrence Everhart Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution include, from left, Millie Ransohoff, first prize; Anna Mortenson, fourth prize; Ethan Carlisle, third prize; Ethan Billips, fifth prize; Logan Walker, sixth prize; and Jack Schneider, seventh prize. This year's theme was "Explain the Role of France (of Louis XVI) in the American Revolution."

Molly Anderson, of New Market Middle School, was second prize winner of the 2016 Middle School Essay Contest sponsored by the Sgt. Lawrence Everhart Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution.

Winners of SAR Middle School Essay Contest are announced

FOR THE FREDERICK NEWS-POST

The Sgt. Lawrence Everhart Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution, recently conducted its 2016 Middle School Essay Contest.

This year's theme was, "Explain the Role of France (of Louis XVI) in the American Revolution."

Two panels of judges read more than 40 essays submitted from students of five Frederick County middle schools and rank-ordered the eight finalist essays.

All participants received a certificate. Prize winners received premiums at school assemblies.

This year's winners are Millie Ransohoff, first prize, of Frederick Classical Charter School; Holly Anderson, second prize, of New Market Middle School; Ethan Carlisle, third prize, Anna Mortenson, fourth prize, Ethan Billips, fifth prize, Logan Walker, sixth prize, Jack Schneider, seventh prize, all of Frederick Classical Charter School; and Nikhil

Nikhil Kurian, of Urbana Middle School, was eighth-prize winner of the 2016 Middle School Essay Contest sponsored by the Sgt. Lawrence Everhart Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution. With Kurian is Ellen Georgi, social studies teacher.

Kurian, eighth prize, of Urbana Middle School.

Essay coordinator was Dr. John George.